foreword

May this issue of the 1947 Co-Lin Trillium be a reminder of your year at Co-Lin. We have endeavored to record student life and at the same time enrich those memories cherished by us all.

The music you will find featured throughout the book is essentially a part of our Alma Mater. Much of the harmony of campus life at Co-Lin centers around the melody and overtones of its music.

We pay tribute to the "musical notes" which symbolize the linking of traditions of the past and aspirations of the future. At the same time we would have you remember the physical, intellectual and spiritual influences which characterize our campus.

Happy days are here again!

JAMES M. EWING, B.S., M.A., PRESIDENT

Mississippi State, Columbia University

As the school year draws to a close, we, the students of Copiah-Lincoln, salute our President, J. M. Ewing. His clear understanding of all matters, his sincere and enthusiastic interest in the college have been an inspiration to both faculty and students.

To the Sophomores of 1947:

This is the first issue of the Co-Lin Trillium since 1942. Your years of absence represents years of service by hundreds of Copiah-Lincoln men and women to their country.

The year 1947 marks a new milestone in the history of Copiah-Lincoln. The Sophomores of 1947 have a peculiar responsibility for the post-war program, not only at Co-Lin, but throughout the state and nation.

Your progress and contribution will be watched with keen interest and appreciation. May the Spirit of Copiah-Lincoln harmonize with your spirits to the end that the Institution and the Individual may greatly enrich the state and nation.

Very sincerely,

J. M. Ewing.

REGISTRAR AND BUSINESS MANAGER

J. J. WESSON, B.S., M.A.
Cumberland University
University of Mississippi

FRED E. THOMPSON, B.A.
University of Mississippi

Even with his duties as Registrar and teacher, Mr. Wesson has found time to win the favor of the student body. Hard-working and efficient, Mr. Thompson plays a leading roll in the progress of our College.

OFFICE STAFF

MISS MARTHA NELL NEWTON
Copiah-Lincoln Junior College

GRAYDON L. MULLEN
Graduate of Soule University

MISS ALMA LOUISE GORDON
Copiah-Lincoln Junior College

Indispensable members in the business office are Miss Newton, clerk, and Mr. Mullen, bookkeeper. Equally capable is Miss Gordon, secretary to the President—three who are always ready to aid the students.

ENGLISH

MISS KATHLEEN TAYLOR, B.A., M.A.
Miss. Woman's College, University of Texas

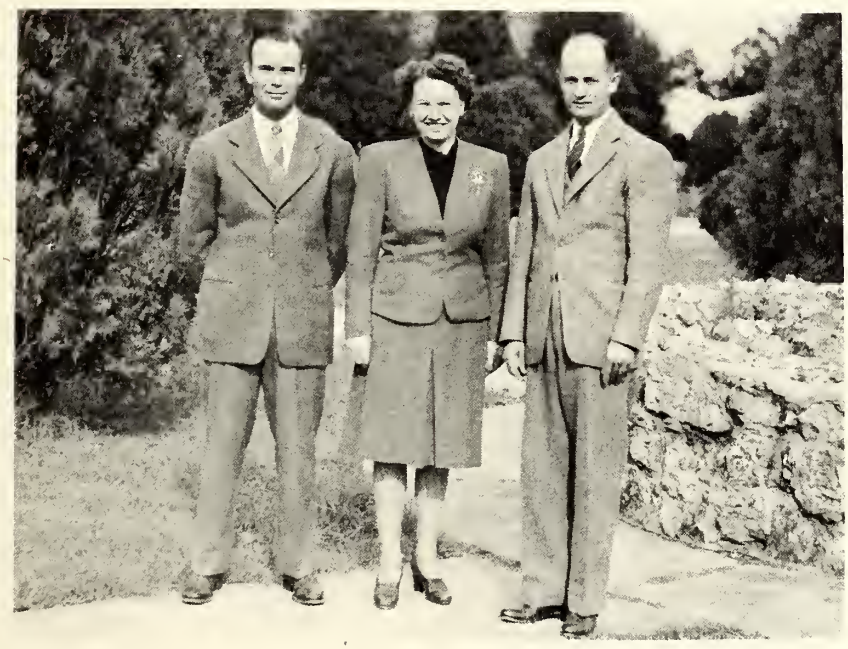
MISS LAURA BELL LINDSEY, B.A., M. A.
Millsaps College, George Peabody College

MISS WILLIE MAE HAMILL, B.A., M.A.
Grenada College, University of Alabama

MISS MILDRED GIFFORD, B.A., M.A.
Union University, S. Baptist Theo. Semin.

MISS FRANCES MOORE, B.A., M.A.
Central College, Baylor University

One of the many things of which we are proud at Co-Lin is our excellent English Department, under the supervision of Miss Lindsey. By reason of its influence, many have gained a greater appreciation for literature and the use of the English Language.



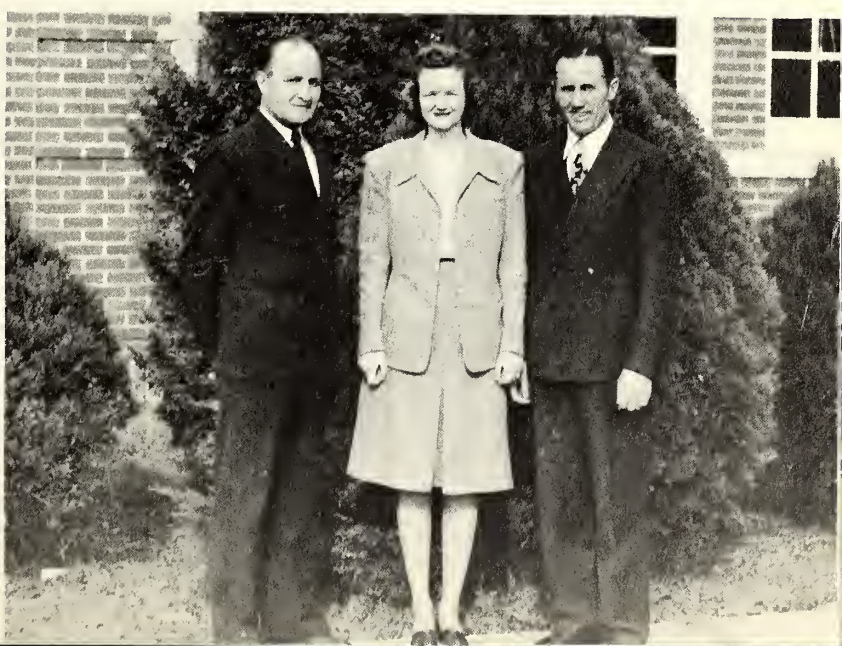
SOCIAL SCIENCE

F. M. FORTENBERRY, B.A.
Mississippi College

MISS GRACE HUFF, B.A., M.A.
University of Alabama

REX RAY PEARCE, B.S., M.A.
University of Mississippi

Superior in quality and scope, this department is one of the most popular at Copiah-Lincoln. It has succeeded in offering the student a comprehensive knowledge of history and an understanding of the social world.



MATHEMATICS

J. J. WESSON, B.S., M.A.
Cumberland Univ., Univ. of Miss.

MISS MARY PHILLIPS, B.S., M.A.
George Peabody College

J. R. RICKS, B.A., GRADUATE STUDY
Delta State Teachers' College

Classes in algebra, trig and general math are the specialties of these who have made the science of numerals and angles both interesting and beneficial.

BIBLE

ROY C. CLARK, B.A., B.D.
Millsaps, Yale University

W. C. DRUMMOND, B.A., Th.M.
Miss. College, Southern Baptist Theological Seminary

This year the pastors of the local churches have taught the courses in religion on the campus. By their graphic teaching of the Bible, religion has gained a new and larger meaning in the lives of the students.

LANGUAGES

MISS FRANCES MOORE, B.A., M.A.
Central College, Baylor University

The colorful and interesting teaching of Spanish, French and Latin offers the linguist well-rounded guidance.

SCIENCE

ROBERT S. STRAIT, B.S.
Millsaps College

H. T. HUDDLESTON, B.A., M.S.
Arkansas College, University of Ark.

JAMES M. LEWIS, JR., B.S.
Mississippi State

Many students have discovered science to be an intriguing and beneficial study under the guidance of this trio.

AGRICULTURE

JAMES M. LEWIS, JR., B.S.
Mississippi State

J. R. HAMILTON, B.S., M.S.
Mississippi State, Ala. Poly-Tech.

Agriculture is one of the outstanding courses at Co-Lin. These able educators give the students an insight in and understanding of the major source of income in our State.

HOME ECONOMICS

MRS. ALTRA GILL, B.S.,
Mississippi Southern

This department, under the direction of Mrs. Gill, offers the student training in home-making and all of its associated arts. This department also plays an important part in the social life on the campus. It sponsors many of our big social events.

COMMERCIAL

MRS. F. M. FORTENBERRY, B.A.
Mississippi College

MISS FRANCES SKULLEY, B.A., M.A.
Bowling Green College, Univ. of Mich.

MISS MARY M. THOMPSON, B.A.,
Blue Mountain College

Of paramount importance to us is the understanding of the business world. Such understanding combined with efficient training prepares the student to take his place in this necessary phase of life.

LIBRARIAN

MRS. FRANK OSWALT,
Certificate In Library Science
George Peabody College

One who plays an important part in the life at Co-Lin is Mrs. Oswalt. With her help and clear knowledge of books, students more easily utilize the several thousand volumes selected to answer their needs.

NURSE

MISS ALLIE LEE LOFTON, R.N.
King's Daughters Hospital,
Brookhaven

Miss Lofton's duties as School Nurse and Assistant Dean of Women have made her an integral part of our school. Her responsibility for the students' welfare means a job well done.

FACULTY HOUSE HOSTESS

MRS. HAL A. ELLIS, B.S., B.M.
Judson College

A charming hostess who adds a touch of home to the faculty house is Mrs. Ellis. She is well known to the students for her piano accompaniments at chapel and vesper.

DIETITIAN

MISS FANNIE CALLENDER

This necessary part of the college is efficiently run in keeping with the standards of economy of the school. This efficiency is due to the efforts of Miss Callender, who always has the interest of the students at heart.

MUSIC

MRS. J. M. EWING, B.A., M.A.
Millsaps College, Columbia University

MISS JULIA GUESS, B.M., M.S.
M.S.C.W., Columbia University

MISS GERTRUDE K. MUTTON, B.M.,
Graduate Study
Wesylan, Berlin, Germany

RALPH W. FRANKLIN, B.S.,
Graduate Study
L.S.U., Northwestern University

The training received by the Music Department students serves a dual purpose — these students acquire excellent instruction in voice, piano, band and music technique, and also this knowledge is shared by all the campus at the many enjoyable programs given. The return of Mr. Franklin has again brought the Band and Orchestras to the front.

TRADES AND INDUSTRIAL EDUCATION

R. N. COWART, B.A., M.ED.
Texas A. & M.

B. E. HENDERSON
Grad. of Ford Automotive Training School, Ford Motor Company

This department of the school is one of the most valuable, serving to give occupational training to those who desire it. The class in woodworking is popular. The class in mechanical drawing gives instruction to the young engineers on our campus.

Mr. Henderson gives his students complete courses in all phases of Auto Mechanics. He has made this course interesting by making it highly practical.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

ROBERT S. STRAIT, B.S.
Millsaps College

MRS. J. R. RICKS, B.S.
Delta State Teachers' College

F. M. FORTENBERRY, B.A.
Mississippi College

J. R. RICKS, B.A.
Delta State Teachers' College

The pleasure and relaxation afforded the student in Copiah-Lincoln's program for health and physical education contributes to a well-rounded course. Mr. Strait and Mrs. Ricks conduct the Boys' and Girls' Physical Education classes, and Mr. Fortenberry and Mr. Ricks coach football, basketball and other sports.

DEAN OF WOMEN

MISS LULA STEVENS, M.E.L., M.A.
Blue Mountain College, Columbia Univ.

With her characteristic charm and graciousness of manner, Miss Stevens capably fills the position of Dean of Women. In her, students find a sympathetic and benignant friend—one with an outlook and philosophy which seems to correspond with their own.

DEAN OF MEN

H. T. HUDDLESTON, B.A., M.S.
Arkansas College, University of Ark.

Because of his genuine interest and consideration, because of his loyalty and sincerity, because of his keen sense of humor, Mr. Huddleston makes a fine Dean of Men. His delightful baritone has enlivened many a chapel program and made him a popular performer.

CO-LIN ACTIVITIES

Extra-curricular activities at Co-Lin are important, for it is in them that our student leaders are developed. These leaders are recognized every spring in a special ceremonial known as "Honors Day." Then gold, silver and bronze medals are awarded to those students who have led all their fellow students in club participation and school honors. Approximately one-sixth of our student body receive activity medals each year. The winning of such awards is based upon the following: club membership, offices held, honor roll, and individual and group performances.

Every student's activity record becomes a part of his permanent file at Co-Lin. Ten or even twenty years after one graduates, his record will show how public spirited he was, how many school offiices he held, and to what organizations he belonged.

WHO'S WHO CORONATION

The Who's Who Coronation, held each year under the auspices of the Sophomore Class, is always a gala occasion at Co-Lin. In fact, this event is the social highlight of the college year. Nobody knew, except the election committee, who was to be in the 1947 Court until the Master of Ceremonies called out the names on Monday evening, February 17. The suspense was terrific but exciting.

The program was as follows: Twenty-Minute Concert by the Orchestra; Presentation of Personnel of Who's Who by Mr. Fortenberry, Class Sponsor; Coronation of Mr. and Miss Copiah-Lincoln by President J. M. Ewing; Alma Mater by the Audience; "Sweethearts" by Jewel Curtis; Tumblers directed by Mrs. Ricks; "I Love You Truly" by Truett Myers; Minuet by Barbara Cooper and Aline Quinn; "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life" by Nita Martin; "Indian Love Call" by Girls' Quartette; Grand March with music furnished by the Orchestra.

A final touch of glamour was added to the ceremony when the ushers let go a barrage of colorful balloons from the balcony just as the Orchestra was closing the program with its theme song.

The Athletics

With the clasp of hands of the captains of the opposing football teams, the spirit of competition is portrayed. This competition which sometimes becomes quite a serious matter, is the basis of our school songs, yells and those spontaneous "war whoops" that enliven every football game. The hearty hand clasp sets the stage for a fair battle in which each player strives to further the name of Copiah-Lincoln.

The return of our veterans, who proved to be veteran football players, heralded the return of the Co-Lin Spirit. Our season has been deemed successful in spite of our losses. The games were enjoyed by the students who played, the students who backed them up, and the students who quietly twisted their programs.

THE COACHES

Mr. Fortenberry, with the able assistance of Mr. Ricks and Mr. Strait, comprised our coaching staff. Their leadership won the admiration of the students, the confidence of the players, and many a hard battle of the pigskin.

FOOTBALL

Our Manager, William Lea Smiley, was the "champion" of our team. His year was a never-ending stream of dirty sox, Rinso, packing and unpacking togs, and measuring countless lengths of tape. His sportsmanship was equalled to that of any member of the team.

The 1946 Squad

WOLVES' PASSES DECIDING FACTOR IN TIGHT BATTLE

Johnny Johnson Saves Tribe From Shutout With Score In Last Period

Success with passes proved the margin of difference in a spectacular football game at Brown Field here last night as the Copiah-Lincoln Wolves of Wesson, Miss, overshadowed the Indians of Northeast Junior College, 12 to 6, to hand the Redskins their fourth straight reverse.

The favored Wolves looked for a while like they had met their match as the Tribesmen battled them ya for yard throughout most of game despite the fact that held the edge in first d yards gained.

WOLVES

Gregg pitched a pass to Talmadge Foreman for a first down on the Co-Lin 11. Then, with the Tribe also trying to beat the clock, Gregg tossed three incomplete passes in a vain effort to score.

On fourth down the Indian backs evidently had a misunderstanding about who was to take the ball from center, and the oval went past them back down the field, and it was the Wolves ball on the Indian 27 when, without the break for the visitors, it should have been somewhere about the ten, thus almost forcing Co-Lin to punt out and give the Tribe the ball again.

But instead the Wolves had it on their own 27. A line play got only two yards, and then Tillman got away a long pass that was gathered in by Slay in midfield and the big end raced the remaining distance to hit paydirt first. Melvin Williams' kick ... the point was no good.

Massey McConnell, Johnny Johnson, J. M. McBeth, Junior Williams, and Talmadge Foreman turned in good work in the Indian backfield while Robert Hodges, Robert Tillman, W. L. Stampley, Taylor Tatum, Curtis Allen, and James Caldwell led the backfield work for the invaders.

Slay and Tatum scored both of Copiah-Lincoln's touchdowns, Slay turning in the long pass gain in the closing seconds of the first half after taking a long heave from Tillman, and Tatum scoring on a short pass from Caldwell, a nephew of Devon Payne, Tallulah High School coach who formerly coached at Ouachita and Neville here.

That first Wolf touchdown should never have been scored, but the visitors got the benefit of a break and pitched the desperation pass purely in an effort to beat the time that was rapidly dwindling away for the first

BASKET BALL

For the second consecutive year, the girls' basketball team has won the Junior College Championship Trophy. Under the supervision of Coach Fortenberry, the team, with their spectacular playing, afford so many breathtaking games on our campus. The season was a successful one with no losses but a score of exciting moments, for a few of the games were easy wins. Even in defeat, the opponent teams admired the Wolverines' clean playing and sportsmanship. After seeing their excellent cooperation and fine spirit, it is obvious that they are truly the Junior College Champions of 1947.

Below is our team:

Pansy, Barr, Norma Jean Beasley, Pauline Taylor, Josie Moak, Juanita Walker, Captain Sue Echols, Coach Fortenberry, Manager Dot Sanders, Mildred Cupit, Alice Earl Byrd, Bertha Lou Hartzog, Sara King, Ruth Tedder and Aline Quinn.

BASKETBALL

Under the excellent direction of Coach Ricks, the Co-Lin Wolves had the Student Body with them even in defeat. The team did not enjoy a series of victories, but spotted their wins throughout the season and thereby held the interest of their fans. Tournament time brought an early defeat to this fiery group. The Wolves left a record of good spirit and sportsmanship in Co-Lin's favor.

Pictured below is our team:

sky.
Rah! Rah! Rah!
What though the odds be great or small
Old Co-Lin will win over all,
While her loyal team goes marching
Onward to Victory.

MARIANNA SLAY

Wolves Keep Fighting

Wolves keep fighting,
Wolves keep fighting,
Tear right through that line.
Take the ball right down the field,
boys,
Touchdown every time, rah, rah, rah,
Eat 'em raw, Wolves, show your claws,
Wolves.
Let 'em hear you growl,
They'd better scram each time
They hear that howl.

DENNIS MAHAFFEY

Hail To the Varsity

We'll give a cheer to the varsity,
Cheer them along the way,
Onward to victory,
May we win again today—
We'll give a cheer for the varsity,
Long may they reign supreme
Shout till the echoes ring
For the glory of our team.

ROSEMARY ANDING

THE SOCIAL HOUR

O women! If this be an ode, let it be dedicated to those graceful creatures who make life bearable, unbearable and zestful! And if this be dedicated to the fair sex, I must lay my setting in that one retreat where all is purely co-educational—the social hour. This is that happy period when all is bliss or anguish, depending largely on how chance has decided. As most of my work is that of observation, it is only natural that I should approach this thing from the innocent bystander's point of view.

Immediately after supper, the general exodus for the girls' dormitory begins. The happy couples wander into the dorm first, followed by the unfortunate women who are alone for the moment. The stags and I wander in next. Passing by the guardpost near the door, I give the password "doogeblli" (that's "I'll be good" backwards), show my credentials, and thereby I am admitted to the inner sanctum. Ah, the lights are turned low tonight! There are only three searchlights sweeping the room at regular intervals. Then, too, the guard makes the rounds at odd intervals of three minutes. I try to find a stuffed chair, but the earliest are safely tucked away in those. Nothing is left but one of those folding jobs, a sort of torture rack that has done so much to cause chronic backache. I must hope for the best.

Seating myself uncomfortably, I start the wait for romantic developments.. As I would like to be in on some of this development, I size up the eligibility situation. Four ladies are listlessly playing Rook at one table, but I notice that they are all incurable manhaters. Ho hum! Another sits over in the corner alone; she's waiting for the already-established boyfriend. But out of this misfortune, I think I see Success sitting alone across the lobby. With carefully feigned nonchalance, I saunter in that general direction. As I approach, she smiles, but tragedy! The smile goes beyond me to someone else. I may as well go back and try again.

I seem to be getting nowhere. Therefore, I resign myself to observing those who seem to be getting somewhere. My gaze is first drawn to the enraptured couple across the way. These two are lost—hopelessly, irrevocably, hopefully—under the spell of something. They stare deep into each others' eyes as if one were ice cream, the other a juicy steak. After ten minutes I decide that they will ruin their eyes after a few sessions—nothing more.

Leaving these two to their ocular wanderings, my gaze shifts. And here is another type. This gentleman seems to think that he can win lady love by talking her to death. He orates at great length; what he is telling her I could only guess. Strangely enough, she is hanging onto his every word; this must be one of the budding romances. I vaguely remember that he is as silent as Selim the Grim in class, but that is of no consequence.

The light is beginning to bother me. Why didn't I think to bring my sunglasses? Near me some fresh and brave soul moves within three feet of the beloved. The glance the guard throws him would have scalded a stone. He moves back to the customary five feet six inches.

The poor stags certainly look lonely tonight; I feel so sorry for us. I am consoled with the thought that at least I am near happiness. One of the girls wanders over to the piano. Oh, please, not "Boogie Woogie!" But she plays just that. That was once a good melody, but after ten minutes it is most disturbing. She plays her one selection and leaves, and my nerves are quiet again. But is that all? By the great Chopin, no! Two of the high school girls move toward the piano and I slam my hands over my ears for what is to come. Why must it always be "Chopsticks"? By the time they are finished, I am wishing for a bowl of good Chinese rice to throw.

About the lobby numerous Rook games move toward seven o'clock. I'd like to show someone some good card tricks, but no one is interested in card tricks. In fact, I can't find a someone to show anything. I pull the "Ace-trick" on myself; it only bores me. Would anyone be interested in a four-handed game of tiddlywinks?

"Time marches on." At seven sharp, all this beautiful activity is torn asunder. The bell shrills; all are stricken sad. The lost couple get one last, searching look; the orator gets in one last persuasive word; the women alone plan for tomorrow night; the Rook players throw in the trumps; the stags and I move toward the door. I watch the happy couples say goodnight and go toward their lonely rooms. Juliet waves at Romeo from the stairway. With my hands deep in my pockets, I plan my exit. Why must it always be like this?

I'm lonesome!

A SPASMODIC FRENZY

Have you heard the latest fad?
It's far from being a bore,
A song with a story 'bout a lad
Who can't get in the door.

I'se locked out in de cold night air,
I haven't got the key,
Break down the door I hardly dare,
I'm really "up a tree".

Richard's here at home I know,
I hear him breathing deep;
Open the door, it's quite a show
For the woman across the street.

So here I stand outside my door,
Biding time for Richard to wake,
I can't get in, that's one thing "sho",
Wish he would get up for my sake.

If a policeman comes and takes me away
To a place with a padded cell,
Maybe Richard will come down and pay
My way out of the jail!

—Durwood Howard
English 102.

A, B or D

A piece of creative writing
(Whatever that may be)
Is the "A" and "B" requirement,
And is it killing me!

But that I'll meet this bitter test,
I have no doubt at all;
My name will then be posted high
On every schoolroom wall.

Ah, I can plainly see it now,
This praising of my name;
My high position exalted in
Co-Lin's Hall of Fame.

The dashing beauty of my style—
The words, the thought, the rhyme—
Will be compared no doubt with all
The Masters of my time.

Ah, yes, there is no question now
Of making "A" or "B",
But as I read this poem again
I think I'll make a "D"!

—Rosemary Norton

THE TRILLIUM

Have you often wondered where the Co-Lin Annual got its name, The TRILLIUM? The TRILLIUM was named after a wild flower, the Trillium, whose foliage is interesting to us.

A Trillium has three petal flowers and three leaves, these representing the three counties which levy taxes to a common fund to maintain this school.

THANKS!

We, the 1947 Co-Lin Trillium Staff, appreciate the cooperation and support of the students at Co-Lin, our faculty members, our photographer, Mr. John Williams, and our patrons.

We take this opportunity to thank you and to remind the Co-Lin students that this publication of the TRILLIUM would not have been possible if it had not been for our advertisers.

We have enjoyed making the book and to all of you who helped us in any way we owe many thanks.
